Sara is a young university student who is responsible, nervous and shy. She has only had one relationship in her life and at the moment she's not interested in men. Her life takes a 180 degree turn when she meets Abel. Abel is a cultured, intelligent man who knows how to listen and talk. Hard, but also warm. Mysterious, cold at times, loving at others. But he has one great point in his favour: when he loves, he gives everything. Between them an unstoppable passion will grow and lead them to share torrid encounters in which Sara will discover all the pleasures of sex. But Abel is also a man tormented by the past and Sara will have to face his ghosts and the women who have shared the irresistible photographer's bed. Sara will get involved in the world of fashion and discover how wonderful and difficult it can be the same time. Who said the world of photography was simple?
