Abi is an intelligent, insightful, imaginative young woman who dreams about marrying Mario. She thinks she's achieved total happiness, but her plans crumble when a seductive charmer enters her life. Will she be able to resist him or will she let herself be carried away by passion? Abi is about to have it all: a possible promotion at the communication department of the cosmetics firm where she works and a boyfriend who she can finally talk to about her dreams for the future. But in just one night, all her dreams are dashed. Mario's visions for the future are nothing like Abi's and a very attractive consultant who is determined to seduce her is complicating everything. María José Vela has written a hilarious and original novel, brimming with sharp, unrestrained humor, where the princesses are brave and the princes are asleep.
