Vicente Bucay, prestigious scientist, finally meets his famous ancestor Isaac Newton. After years of work, he and his team have managed to bring him back to life as a clone in a secret laboratory. After several tests, it is time to go home, but Vicente Bucay Delgado Avalos Newton doesn't want to leave Isaac to sleep in a cold laboratory, as if he was just another experiment. So he decides to take him home to his family. When he gets home he meets the family. His wife Monica Valera. His daughter, a university student, Serena. And his teenage son Alex. Newton will feel curious about his surroundings and will discover the advantages and disadvantages of living with the telephone and the computer which occasionally can be used inappropriately, with traumatic results...
