We all want to feel at ease with the people around us, that they accept us and that they want to be with us. But we know that's not always easy. In these 20 stories you can discover a little secret that will help you to coexist with the people in your life. The first part of the book, From Me, has stories with ideas about how to be yourself, and the second part, I Want to Go, is full of beautiful stories to give you the energy to keep moving forwards, even through the difficult times. Then in part three, Towards Others, you will find lots of great ideas on how to live better with your family or your group of friends. You can observe the way to work through them so that your relationships will be the best they can be. From Me, I Want to Go, Towards Others: from yourself with your own way of being, you want to go, you want to get closer, to the others, to have a good relationship with them.
