Luna 174 is an original novel that slips between fantasy and science fiction, but is mainly a love story that crosses the barriers of death and space. Luna Hatton is 20 and lives in a lost town in Australia. Although her life looks the same as anybody else's, she has a gift that has followed her since childhood – she can see the souls of other human beings. Most of the souls around her are a grey colour, somewhere in between good and bad, but there is a girl, a girl with a white soul, Gaia Wheeler. Luna feels a connection with her, and with her she will learn the secrets of the stars that shine overhead. Then one day, Luna has an offer from a accompany that knows her secret, even though she has never shared it with anyone.
